Foreword

IRIS SEEDLINGS. Our 1932 field of 5,000 Bearded Iris seedlings presented some first class new Irises and threw much additional light on heredities. From four or more crosses in each case, there were large and tall yellows, whites and variegatas, some of them exceptionally good. There was one real red, some blacks, many brilliantly colored ones and a replica of Clara Noyes—too late.

Ten were registered for possible introduction in 1934 but, due to our error, are shown in A. I. S. Bulletin 46 as 1932 introductions; correction will be requested.

GENETIC INTEREST. All our seedlings are recorded and we hope to find time to tag them with parentages this year so that they may be studied without the attendance of the proprietor. Of course, much more can be learned from seeing hybrids of known heredity in bloom than can be derived from descriptions of them.

CHROMOSOME STUDIES. In A. I. S. Bulletin 47, we recently gave Iris chromosome counts made by Dr. Randolph of Cornell University, Simonet, Longley and others. Dr. Randolph will soon make several more important determinations and others are undertaking the work in considerable quantity. With the counts available, it is now possible to predict at least some of the characteristics to be anticipated from many crosses. A very limited consideration of chromosome numbers in connection with our crossing records indicates that material practical advantage may come from a real study, especially with the additional determinations in prospect. To avoid duplication, others doing this work should tell kinds to Dr. Harry Everett, Robert Schreiner or the writer. They will reciprocate.

AWARDS. Crysoro, Red Robe and Valor were given Honorable Mention in 1932. We are pleased to get the Awards and are even more appreciative of the long trips to our garden made by three of the Directors and two of the Judges of the A. I. S. It is difficult to produce an Iris worthy of an Award and even harder to get it before a sufficient number of the Judges, within the time limit, to make the Award possible.

Red Robe was seen on plants that had been exhausted by overloading with seed and the stalks were shorter than normal; the lack of height was criticized by some of the Judges but they gave it the Award; two purely amateur gardeners who neither sell plants nor plant seed ignored five Dykes Medal Irises near the stunted Red Robe and each ordered it at $25.00.

OUR COLLECTION. Not large, has practically all the best new and old, and has no poor ones. It offers the best of the kind at the price and is a safe list to buy from.

ROYAL IRIS GARDENS, Camillus, N. Y. We again bespeak the reliability of our son, J. C. Nicholls, Jr., Proprietor of those gardens.

VISITORS. Welcome any time, any day. Height of seasons: Iris, June 12. Peonies, June 25. This year, 2500 mature Peony seedlings will bloom, mostly Japanese.

AMERICAN NATIVE AND OTHER BEARDLESS IRISES

Members of our family have, for four years, been collecting the native Irises locally and from Virginia to the lower Mississippi River. Some of the more beautiful ones now growing in our garden are offered below.

All our indentifications are definitely authentic except some uncertainty as to whether a few are carolina or shrevei. Autauga and several other similar ones differ considerably from shrevei sent us by Mr. Shreve. We do not know what they are except that they are among the most desirable of any; they are perfectly at home in this climate, bloom well and are distinctly beautiful. In 1932, three whites were sent us from the group that gave Autauga. They will bloom in late June.

We are deferring to our son, J. C. Nicholls, Jr., on some points, registration of the Louisiana kinds being one. His registrations are shown in parentheses in the list; they have passed check in the A. I. S. but the English Society is yet to be heard from.

"August Flame" and "Autumn Fire" bloom from early August into early September. The flowers are a deep vermilion resembling fulva but are on taller stalks that are the most perfect-branched we have seen. They grow rampantly and bloom reliably here and may prove to be the most desirable of any yet collected in Louisiana. There is every reason to believe that August is their normal time of bloom in this latitude.

The numbers following descriptions are our garden serials.

Shipments of these begin September 1.

We have several already classified as new species but not yet announced by Dr. Small or Mr. Alexander; also many not yet classified—some of the best.

Peonies

Sold more than 80% last year. Now three years old and actually free from disease. Again, we cannot divide them but will ship whole as dug. To be as definite as possible, all have been inventoried and classed as "L", large, "M", medium and "S", small. The "L" should cut into four or more divisions, "M" into two or more and "S" be equivalent to one good division. They will average better than that but we make no guarantees on that point. Kinds and prices considered, these are probably the greatest Peony bargains yet offered.

For certainty of clearing out the fairly large stocks of some of the very best, their prices are low; they are: Asa Gray, Cherry Hill, James Kelway, Le Cygne, Longfellow, Mme. J. Dessert, Marie Jacquin, Mary Brand, M. W. Shaylor, Le Jour, L'Etincellante, Nellie.

IMPORTANT. Sizes available are indicated by the letters L, M and S after names. The price is for the largest size indicated and orders must be given for that size. If inventory number of that size be exhausted when order is received, our "Order acknowledgment" will show that the next size is to be supplied and will be accompanied by a 30% refund check.

Tell us if buying to divide and resell and we will select roots accordingly—so far as we can. Naming substitutes or authorizing us will help where particular variety doesn't matter; we do not pick the poorest.

NO DISCOUNTS ALLOWED. SHIPPED BY EXPRESS COLLECT, NOT PREPAID.
